DUKE CLINICAL RESEARCH INSTITUTE AT ISPOR 2018

SCHEDULE A MEETING WITH THE DCRI AT ISPOR 2018

The 2018 International Society for Pharmacoeconomics and Outcomes Research (ISPOR) Meeting is the leading scientific and educational gathering for health economics and outcomes research experts. DCRI faculty and operational experts in stated preference research, data science, and other areas are eager to join the discussion, contribute their insights, and collaborate to advance health care decision making and delivery. To learn how the world’s largest academic research organization improves outcomes through innovative trials...

CLICK HERE TO SCHEDULE A MEETING

CONGRATULATIONS TO REED JOHNSON

ISPOR 2018 Recipient of the Avedis Donabedian Lifetime Achievement Award

F. Reed Johnson, PhD
Professor in Population Health Sciences
Duke University Senior Research Scholar
DCRI Preference Evaluation Research (PrefER)

Reed Johnson is an internationally recognized thought leader and one of the most highly published experts in the field of health applications of stated preference research.

DCRI PRESENTATIONS AT ISPOR

SUNDAY, MAY 20
8 a.m.
Patient-Reported Outcomes: Item Response Theory
DCRI Faculty: Bryce Reeve, PhD

8 a.m.
Statistical Methods in Economic Evaluations
DCRI Faculty: Shelby Reed, PhD; Brad Hammill, DrPH

1 p.m.
Preference Data for Patient-Centric Benefit-Risk Analysis
DCRI Faculty: F. Reed Johnson, PhD; Juan Marcos Gonzalez, PhD

MONDAY, MAY 21
8:30 a.m.
2018 ISPOR Avedis Donabedian Outcomes Research Lifetime Achievement Award
DCRI Faculty Recipient: F. Reed Johnson, PhD

8:30 a.m.
Inflection Point for Real-World Evidence? The Transformational Role of Digital Health
DCRI Faculty: Adrian Hernandez, MD, MHS

8:30 a.m.
PND39: Something is Better than Nothing: The Value of Active Intervention on Stated Preferences for Treatments to Delay Onset of Alzheimer’s Disease Symptoms
DCRI Faculty & Operations: F. Reed Johnson, PhD, Shelby Reed, PhD, Jui-Chen Yang, MEM

12:30 p.m.
ISPOR Women in Health Economics and Outcomes Research Open Meeting
DCRI Faculty: Shelby Reed, PhD

TUESDAY, MAY 22
11 a.m.
W9: Numbers or Noise? Interpreting Internal Validity Tests of Stated-Preference Data
DCRI Faculty & Operations: F. Reed Johnson, PhD, Jui-Chen Yang, MEM

5 p.m.
IP15: How Can We Address the Current Challenges in Value Assessment?
DCRI Faculty: Shelby Reed, PhD

6:15 p.m.
DCRI Faculty: Gillian Sanders-Schmidler, PhD

WEDNESDAY, MAY 23
10 a.m.
Examining the Role of Patient Preferences to Inform Regulatory Decision Making
DCRI Moderator: Shelby Reed, PhD

1:45 p.m.
PP1: Patient Preferences for Health States Following Alternative Management Options for Ductal Carcinoma In Situ
DCRI Faculty & Operations: F. Reed Johnson, PhD, Shelby Reed, PhD, Juan Marcos Gonzalez, PhD, Jui-Chen Yang, MEM